TALKING HEADS

WEAIT.

GEORGE WEAIT
DEBUT
UK SOLO EXHIBITION

Amber Galleries are thrilled to announce the highly anticipated debut exhibition of George Weait, an emerging talent making waves in the contemporary art scene. Opening in Henley on Thames from the 13th July.

We are hugely honoured to be providing a platform for George's unique talent and to showcase such a dynamic and carefully curated body of work.

As a gallery committed to nurturing and showcasing emerging talents, we recognize the immense potential of George's creative vision and are excited to witness their artistic journey unfold. We look forward to introducing George's unique vision to a wide audience across the UK.

Talking Heads offers a dynamic range of visual narratives that invite viewers to delve into the artist's internal world and observe his distinctive artistic voice.

WEAIT.

GEORGE WEAIT. BRITISH. B. LONDON 2000

To watch George Weait create art is to observe a flow of energy, not from, but rather through his body. An energy which emits in an invisible arc of electricity through hand, brush, oil stick, pastel and paint onto the medium of choice, whether that be canvas, paper, card or other. The resultant pieces are bursting with life, brilliance and the defining moments of their creation.

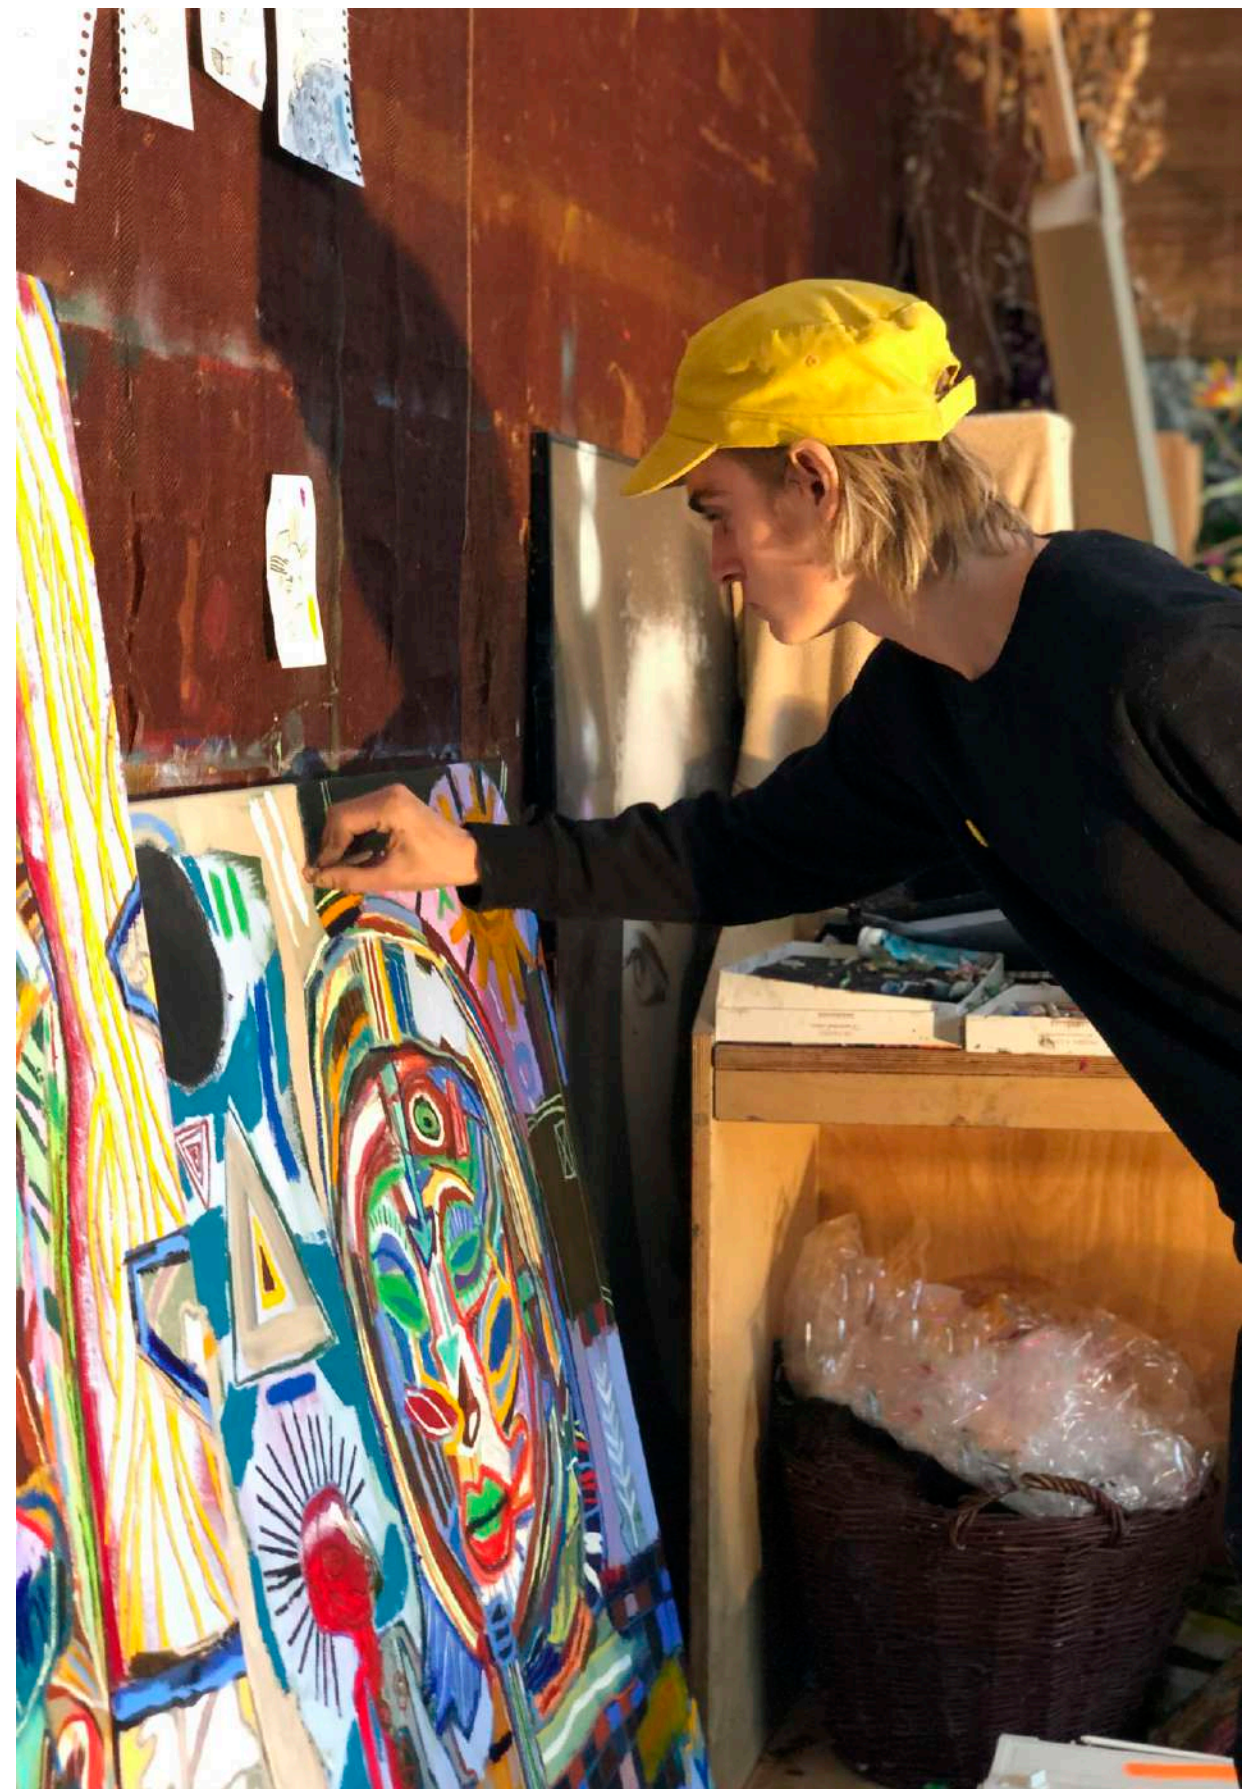

George Weait's key ability is to take realized experience and capture it in an array of colour and movement which seems to dance in front of the eyes of the viewer, never letting up, with new elements to discover each time the work is observed afresh. This is what makes his art so extraordinary. Neither contrived, nor conceptualized, the pieces are composed like visual music, allowing the digested experience of everyday laughter, dance and social observation pour into a palette of vibrancy and colour, representing dimensions of radiance which coalesce into a wonderful narrative or portrait in joyful harmony.

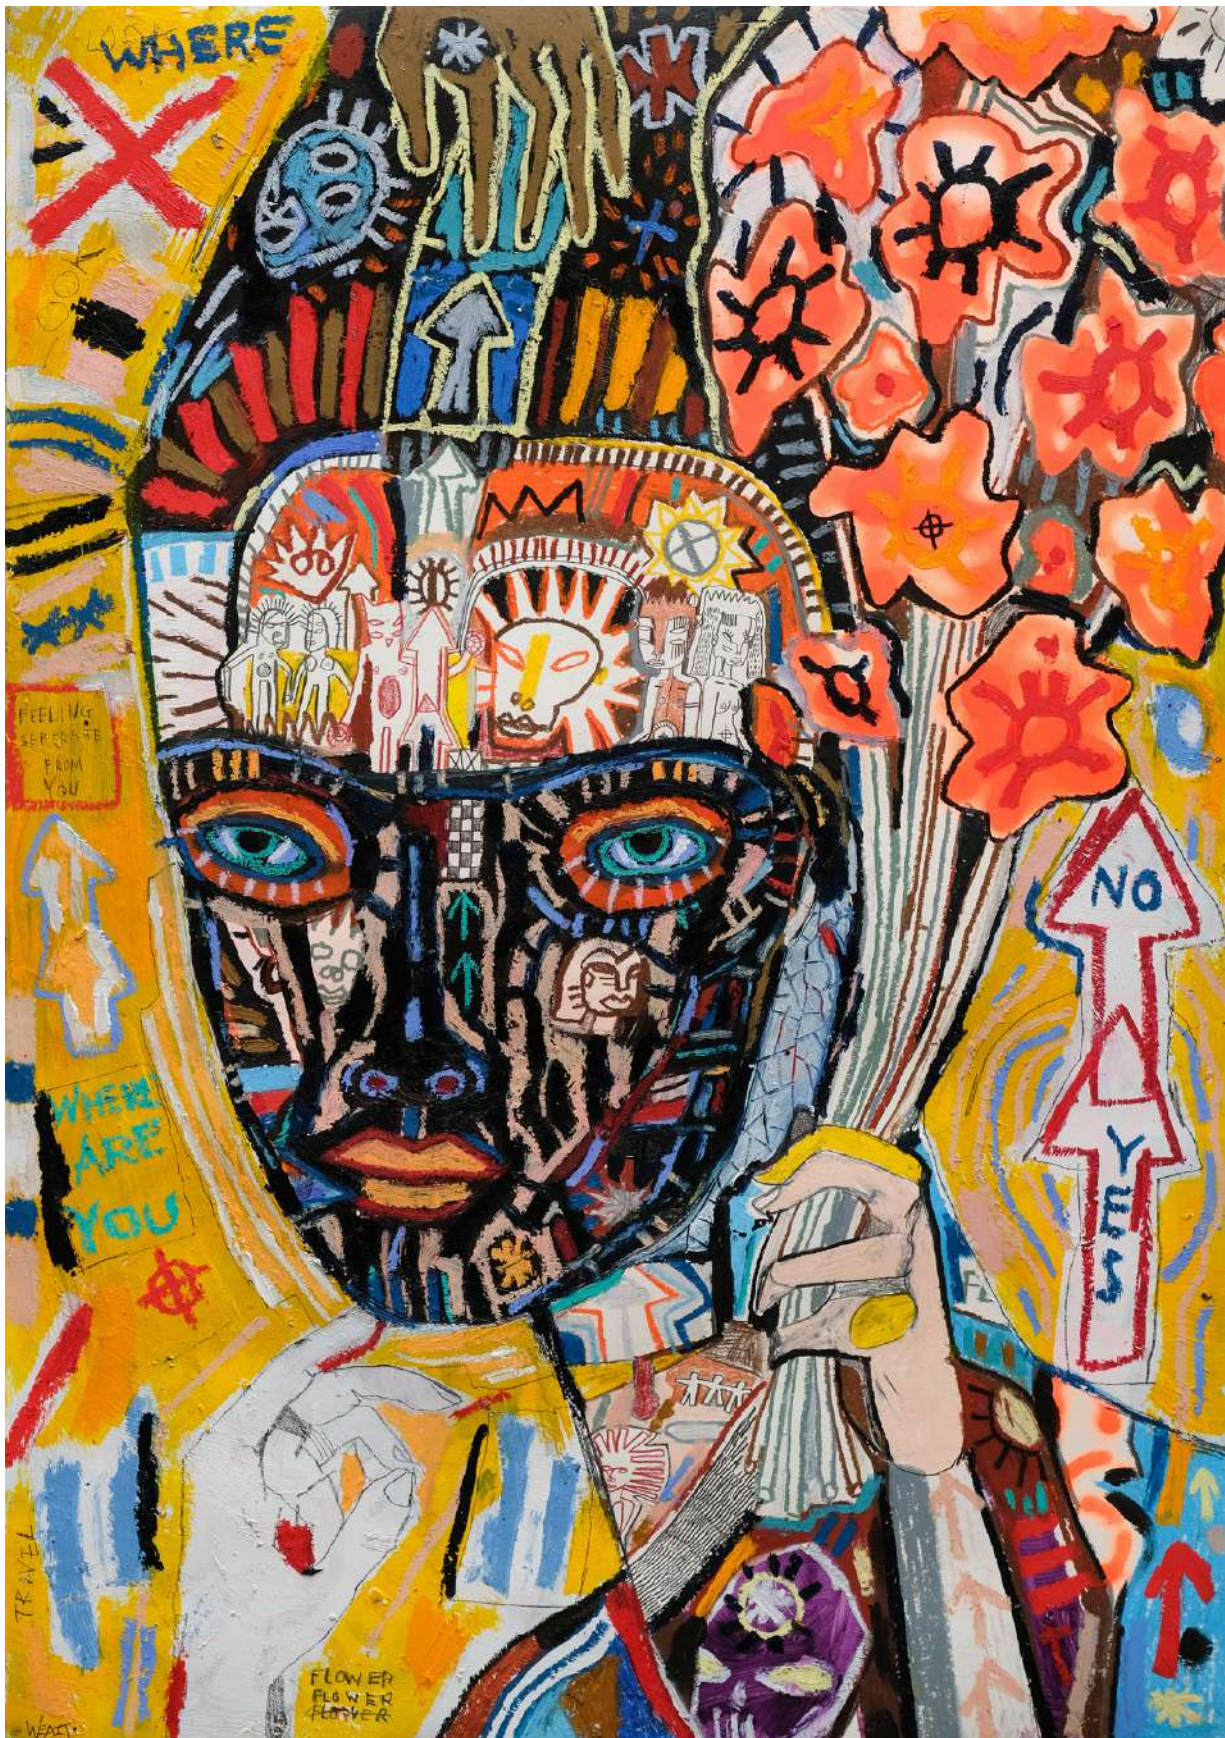

In the last three years, George Weait's extraordinary art has caught the eye of many and after a commercially successful showing at the Los Angeles Contemporary Art Show in July 2021, following his initial show at London's Oxo Tower in June of the same year, George has continued to garner much interest with many sales from collectors both here and internationally.

"The importance of this exhibition stems from my love for the many people that I meet. My aim is to bring others into the way that I see the world. The over-sized portraits of the individuals here, is my attempt to show their hidden characteristics, developing on their emotions and personal creativity as much as their outer appearance through my expression of symbols, directions and colour.

I also take specific elements of my own life and create mirrored experience in the art that I perceive in my mind and subsequently release onto the canvas..."

- George Weait

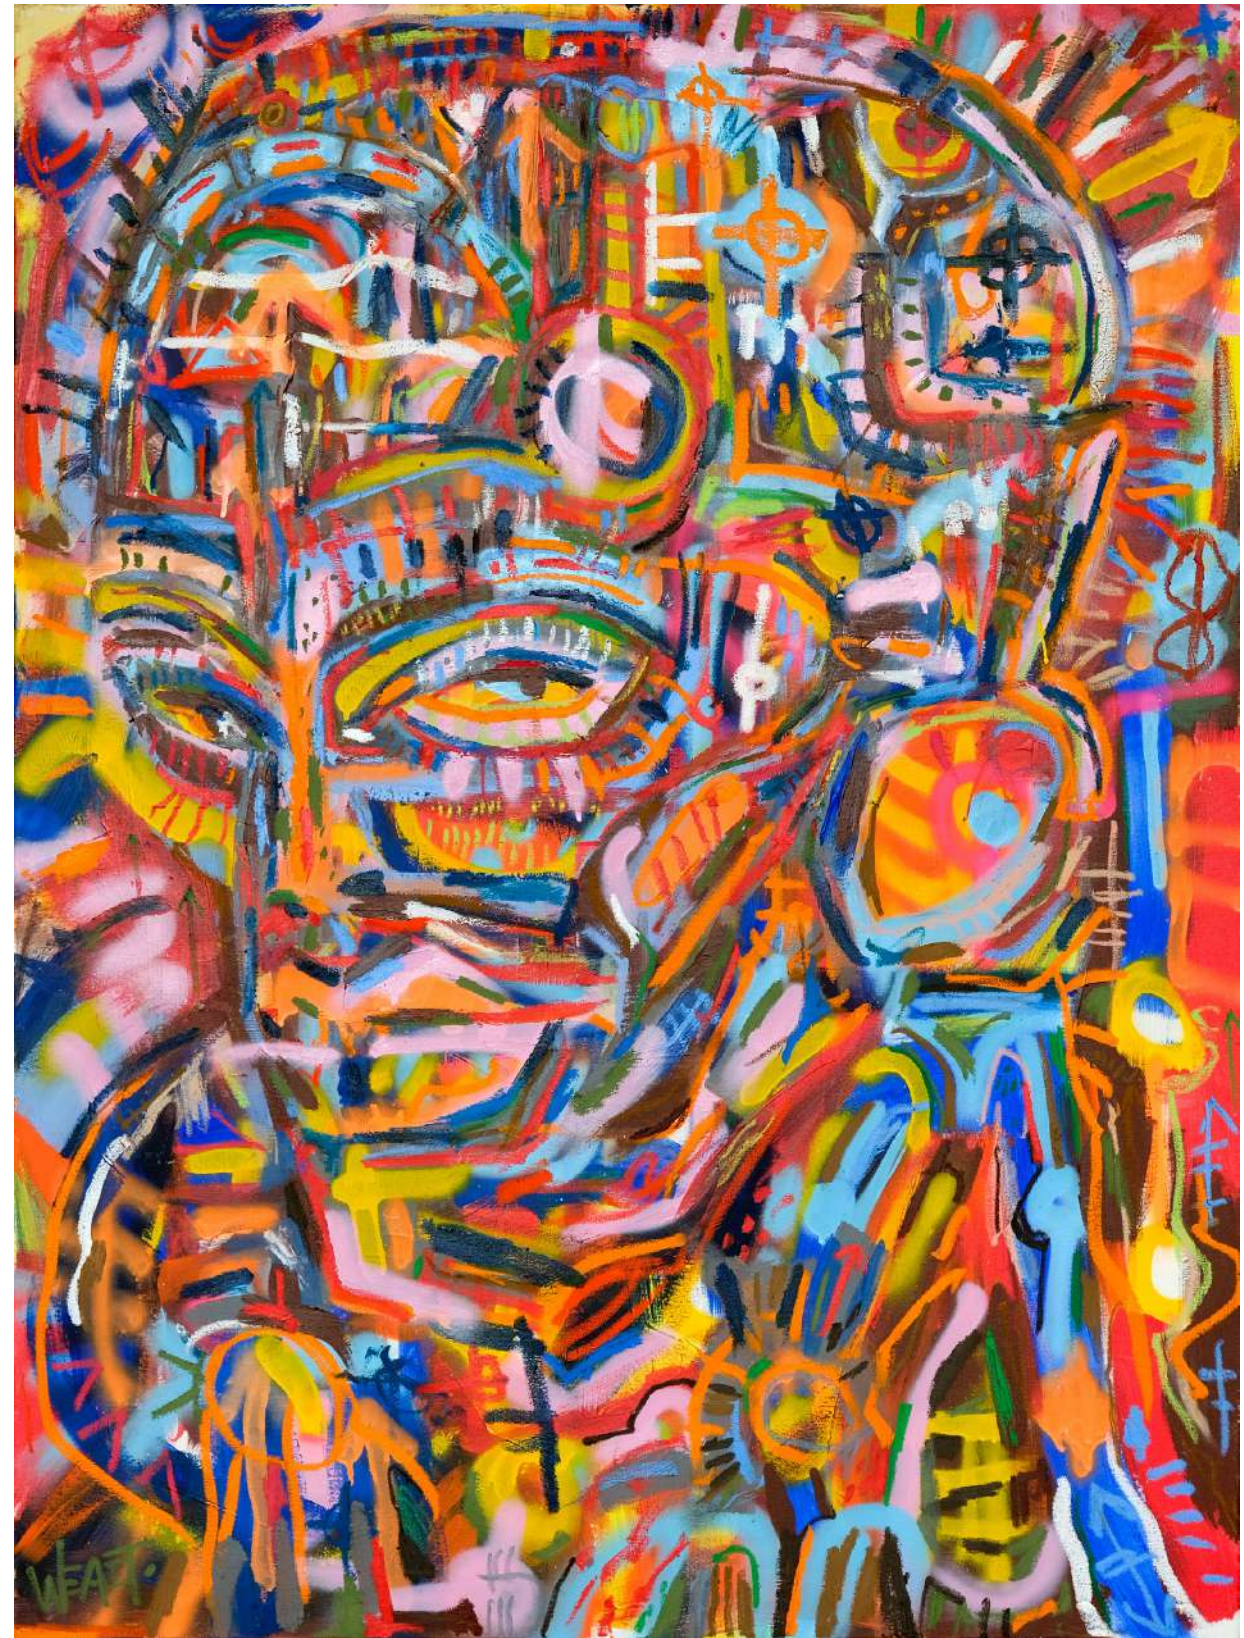

INDI

*The creation of art amongst friends.
Indi is one of my closest friends. And we share lots of beautiful moments together. This piece is a portrait of her as well as the energy which reveals itself when I am with her.*

NEXT LEVEL PENG

DDF

*The pursuit of a weekend lifestyle, finding yourself travelling to a range of different locations to be one with an urban music scene.
Engaging with new people whom you may be with for only one night.*

A narrative of finding yourself within a vibrant and exciting social situation. What is real and what isn't. How Am I feeling? Who am I with? Do I want to be back there?

ABSORBED BY SOUND

2022
Oil pastel, Spray Paint and Oil bar on Card
59x84 cm

I wanted to produce a piece that has a sweetness to it. On various 'nights out' you come across lovely beautiful people. This resembles some of the girls I encounter when socialising, dancing and enjoying myself.

When creating this piece, the memory of how sound can make you feel, played a big role in depicting the portraits. The rush, the beat, the bass and the drums take over your whole body. You feel at one with the music.

DREAM OF EVERYTHING

*This piece centres around the portrait of the boy.
His mind is taken over by the people he cares for;
new relationships and a longing for love.
His tattoos represent individuals whom he's met on his journey that have shaped who he has become.
Energy circulates through and around him, ever growing his continual discovery of the world.*
